CALL FOR PAPERS:
Economic Crisis and New Social Realities

2010 ANNUAL MEETING
EASTERN SOCIOLOGICAL SOCIETY

Hyatt Regency Hotel
Cambridge, MA
March 18-21, 2010

America is facing its worst financial crisis since the Great Depression. The 2010 Meeting will focus on the nature of this crisis and its implications for the U.S. and other societies around the world. How will the global economic crisis change the American Dream as well as the aspirations of those in other countries? What new patterns of consumption, work, and family seem most likely to emerge? What will be the role of government in economic markets? What will be the nature of government responsibility to its citizens in areas such as health care, social security, employment, housing, and family benefits? How will citizens define responsibilities to their government and to each other? What kinds of economic and social inequalities will emerge and will they feel legitimate or even acceptable? How will societies define the balance of individual rights versus communal concerns? How will the reduction of government programs affect education and the criminal justice system? To what degree will societies look inward and as opposed to looking outward toward more global issues such as the environment, immigration, terrorism, and international conflict? What new social policies will be needed to adequately deal with this changed reality?

The new and current economic and social situation challenges sociology to provide analyses and answers to these and other pressing questions. Although submissions on all sociological topics are welcome, the organizers are particularly interested in those related to the Meeting’s theme. We are especially interested in having them in such varied forms as:

- Individual papers (please include one-page abstracts; longer drafts are also welcome)
- Wholly constituted sessions (with names and affiliations of all presenters)
- Thematic forums (panels of two or more scholars engaged in debate or exchange)
- Workshops on specific topics and techniques (indicate the expert in charge)
- Conversations, Q&A sessions, or master classes (featuring a prominent scholar)
- Round-table and poster-session presentations

Details about electronic submission will be posted in the next ESS newsletter, announced on the ESS Announce List, and available at the ESS website: http://www.essnet.org. Regular submissions for all sociological topics in any of above formats are due by October 15, 2009.

It is never too early to start planning, so send in proposals for thematic forums, conversations, mini-conferences, workshops, master classes, and other ideas as soon as possible.

These submissions should be sent to: easterns2010@gmail.com
Program Committee: Jonathan Imber (Co-Chair), Christopher Winship (Co-Chair), Rosanna Hertz (President), Pamela Stone (Vice President), Nazli Kibria, and William Julius Wilson

About

The Transformative Studies Institute (TSI) fosters interdisciplinary research that will bridge multidisciplinary theory with activism in order to encourage community involvement that will attempt to alleviate social problems. As part of the mission, scholars, activists, and other concerned individuals in fields such as social sciences, humanities, and law will be invited to conduct research and become involved in like-minded various grass roots organizations. The Institute is concerned with issues of social justice and related activism, and its aim is to provide a working model of theory in action, through shared research, governance, and operation of the center. As such, the institute may provide a working laboratory for evolutionary socioeconomic forms of organization. Further, we invite literary participation through our independent, peer-reviewed journal Theory in Action, through which research associates, scholars, activists, and students may disseminate their research and expand thematic social dialogue. TSI also welcomes opportunities to work with national and international scholars who serve as research associates and fellows. In addition, the institute plans on collaborating with various worker education programs, labor centers, universities, think tanks, advocacy groups and non-profit organizations. TSI is managed and operated by a dedicated global team of academic scholar-activists, grassroots activists, and the concerned public. Many of TSI’s members have multiple graduate degrees, multiple years of secondary and college level teaching experience throughout most disciplines. TSI also provides consulting services, custom policy papers and projects, and operates a speakers’ bureau.

Publish with our Journal

Ever wonder why activist scholarship is routinely rejected by ‘serious’ peer-reviewed journals? So did we and decided to do something about it! The purpose of our flagship journal Theory in Action is to legitimize scholar-activism through an international, interdisciplinary, peer-reviewed, quarterly publication that is available both in print and online. If you are too radical for acceptance by your association’s journals, well check us out because WE WANT YOU! We welcome assistance in disseminating our journal through your social networks and increasing its subscription base through your recommendations to your institution’s librarian.

Fellowships

If you wish to pursue grants without institutional restraints, you may now do so as a TSI research Fellow or Associate. We recognize that journals, colleges, and foundations often do not take contingent faculty and independent scholars seriously. TSI, however, believes that all scholars have something to contribute, which is why we offer them an opportunity to affiliate with TSI as research Fellows and Associates. Upon acceptance, scholars will be able to affiliate with TSI as their home institution. We will provide support, institutional email, letterhead, and other materials. Furthermore, since we do not require exclusive rights to their intellectual work, our scholars are free to disseminate their research through any outlet.

A New University

The corporate university actively impedes free thought and discourse in the United States. In response, TSI is establishing an accredited graduate school in which radicals’ will be welcomed rather than muzzled or fired. Students will be educated, not trained. They will learn by doing rather than through cookie-cutter online modules or exploited share-cropper adjuncts. They will question, challenge, and advocate at a university whose core curriculum will speak for the poor, the forgotten, the environment, and animals. The college seeks to be tuition-free if we build a sufficient endowment. The college will have a participatory and democratic structure, and its purpose will be nothing less than the transformation of society via a new social movement based on equality and facts versus poverty, propaganda, and superstition!
Wadsworth, a part of Cengage Learning, is proud to offer the following new Sociology titles for your courses!
