The current Great Recession is the worst economic period in 70 years; the official unemployment rate is over 10 percent, and more than 1 out of 6 people is unemployed, discouraged, or involuntarily working part-time. Wall Street has received massive support; workers have not, and recession has eroded public support for unions. This panel will examine the varying kinds of responses that business, workers, and unions have made and are making to the current economic crisis, drawing as well on lessons from past economic crises.

CALL FOR PAPERS:
Intersectionalities and Complex Inequalities

2011 ANNUAL MEETING
EASTERN SOCIOLOGICAL SOCIETY

Sheraton- Society Hill
Philadelphia, PA
February 24-27, 2011

The concept of intersectionality or an intersectional framework, introduced about twenty years ago, has enriched and transformed academic research across many disciplines. Its application allows scholars to explore the simultaneous and multiplicative interaction of class, race, ethnicity, gender, age, religion, sexuality, disability, citizenship and other axes of inequality in people’s lives as mutually constructing systems of power. The 2011 Meeting will focus on how an intersectional approach has been developed and utilized in different ways across the subfields of sociology. What methodologies best help us do an intersectional analysis? In what areas have intersectional analyses been most successful? What is the most recent research in these areas? How has using an intersectional approach advanced our knowledge?

The concept of intersectionality challenges the various areas within sociology to develop detailed critical explorations of complex inequalities and their cumulative and interactive effects on individuals and social institutions. Although submissions on all sociological topics are welcome, the organizers are particularly interested in those related to the Meeting’s theme. We welcome submissions in such varied forms as:

- Individual papers (please include one-page abstracts; longer drafts are also welcome)
- Wholly constituted sessions (with names and affiliations of all presenters)
- Thematic Conversations (panels of two or more scholars engaged in debate or exchange)
- Workshops on specific topics and techniques (indicate the expert in charge)
- Master classes featuring a prominent scholar or Q & A sessions
- Roundtable and poster session presentations
- Mini-conferences

Details about electronic submission will be posted in the next ESS newsletter, announced electronically on the ESS Announce List, and available at the ESS website: http://www.essnet.org. Regular paper submissions for all sociological topics in any of the above formats are due by September 30, 2010.

Send submissions to easterns2011@gmail.com

Program Committee: Gwen Moore (Chair), Christine E. Bose (President), Karen Hansen (Vice President), Zai Liang, Steven Messner, and Bandana Purkayastha.

THE GEORGE C. STONEY COLLECTION

A veteran maker of over 100 documentaries, a lifelong media activist, and professor of film at New York University, Stoney is perhaps most famous as the “godfather of public access to cable television.” Some titles now available:

- All My Babies: A Midwife’s Own Story
  Preserved on the National Film Registry. All My Babies is not only a profound portrait of midwife “Miss Mary” Coley, but also a documentary record of the living conditions of African-American families in 1950s Georgia.

- The Shepherd of the Night Flock
  A documentary about the jazz ministry at St. Peter’s Lutheran Church in Manhattan. Featuring performances by jazz greats such as Jim Hall and Duke Ellington, the film is also a nuanced biographical portrait of Father John Garcia Gensel.

- How the Myth Was Made
  Myth explores the effects Robert Flaherty’s 1934 film Man of Aran had on the island and its people. Stoney says, “Myth illustrates what I believe to be a common truth: the filmmaker always leaves his mark on the places and the people he films.”

- Two Video Reports from China
  In 1977, twenty-three American family planning workers from the fields of medicine, public health, media, and administration visited the People’s Republic of China to study its birth control, maternity and child care methods and facilities.
