COPIES OF PAPERS

The ESS does not sell or distribute papers or abstracts. Please contact authors directly to obtain copies of papers or to get further information.

SESSION AND PAPER LENGTH

In sessions without a discussant, presenters should take approximately 15 to 20 minutes to make their initial presentations, while in those where a discussant is listed (or which have more than four papers), presenters should plan on approximately 10 to 15 minutes and discussants the same amount of time. After all of the presentations, the presiders will ask for questions from the audience and a general discussion. Presiders should end sessions promptly to enable the following sessions to start on time.

IT IS NEVER TOO SOON TO BEGIN PLANNING.....

Beyond Ourselves: Sociology in a Global Mode
ESS 78th Annual Meeting
February 21-24, 2008
New York, NY

New York City will host the 2008 meetings of the Eastern Sociological Society and as a premier "global metropolis," it serves as an appropriate location for highlighting the increasing range of sociological research that places the US in a broader context, develops comparative paradigms, focuses on sociological studies of other societies and cultures, and recognizes the increasing interdependence and competition that defines the modern world. The 2008 program committee will be inviting scholars from outside of the US to join us as special commentators on plenary panels, as spokespersons for new sociological paradigms developing beyond our borders. The "global easterns" will pay particular attention to the manifestations of inequality that drive immigration from the east to the west and back again, that situate inside the urban villages of the 21st century, and have transformed regions previously untouched by immigration. It will focus on the role of globalization in labor, education, and the family -- institutions caught in the sway of worldwide integration that has undermined and rearranged, promoted and celebrated new roles for women and men as breadwinners and parents and for children as consumers and actors in the international race for human capital. We will look anew at how studies of "other places and other spaces" enhance the sociological imagination.

Attention ESS Attendees

Please stop by our booth for a 20% discount off all University of Chicago Press Journals during the show.

Current Anthropology is an international journal of general anthropology. Since its inception in 1960, Current Anthropology has been the major international journal devoted to research on humankind delivering conversations across spectrums.

The American Journal of Sociology, first established in 1895, remains a leading voice for analysis and research in the social sciences. The Journal strives to speak to the general sociological reader and is open to sociologically informed contributions from anthropologists, statisticians, economists, educators, historians, and political scientists.

Social Service Review is committed to examining social welfare policy and practice and evaluating its effects. Providing multidisciplinary and multicultural analyses of current policies and past practices, the Review helps its readers to see critical problems in their broader contexts and to consider long-range solutions.
